

POST

Can burnout actually be good for you?

Health and wellness consultant Jenny Dempsey believes it can. In fact, she credits burnout for leading her to make some of her best, most life-changing decisions. "Burnout is a slap in the..."

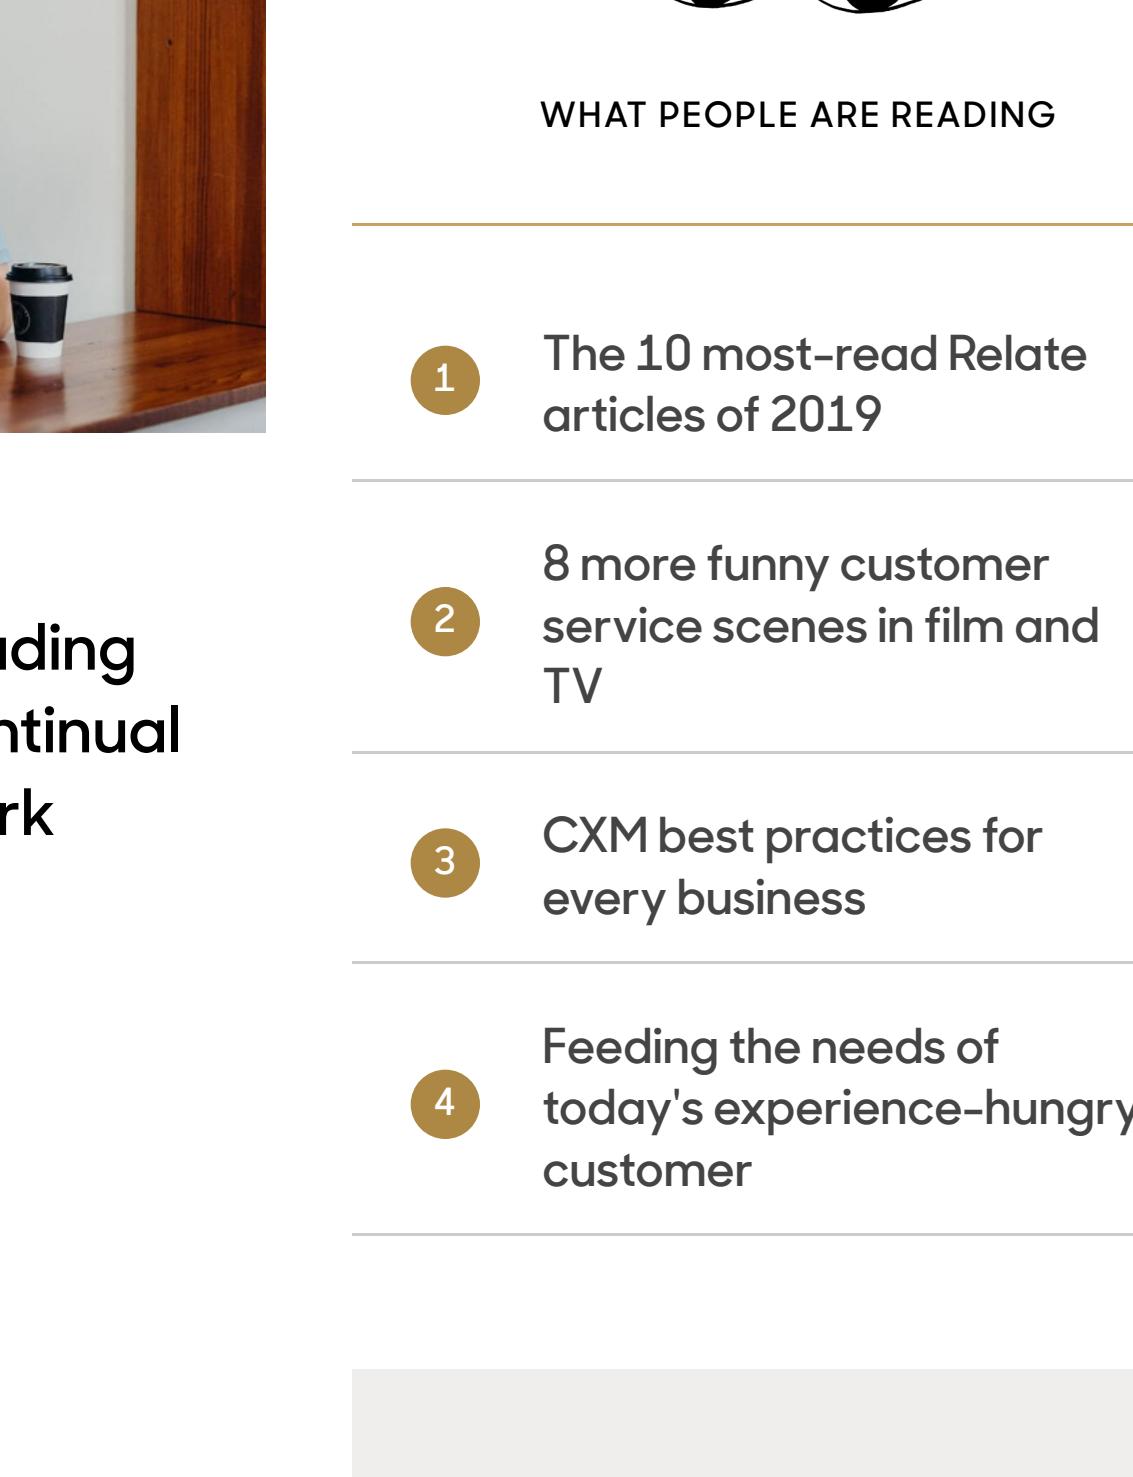

BY HEATHER HUDSON

POST

The incomparable value of community moderators

BY SUZANNE BARNECUT

POST

3 reasons why time tracking software saves more than time

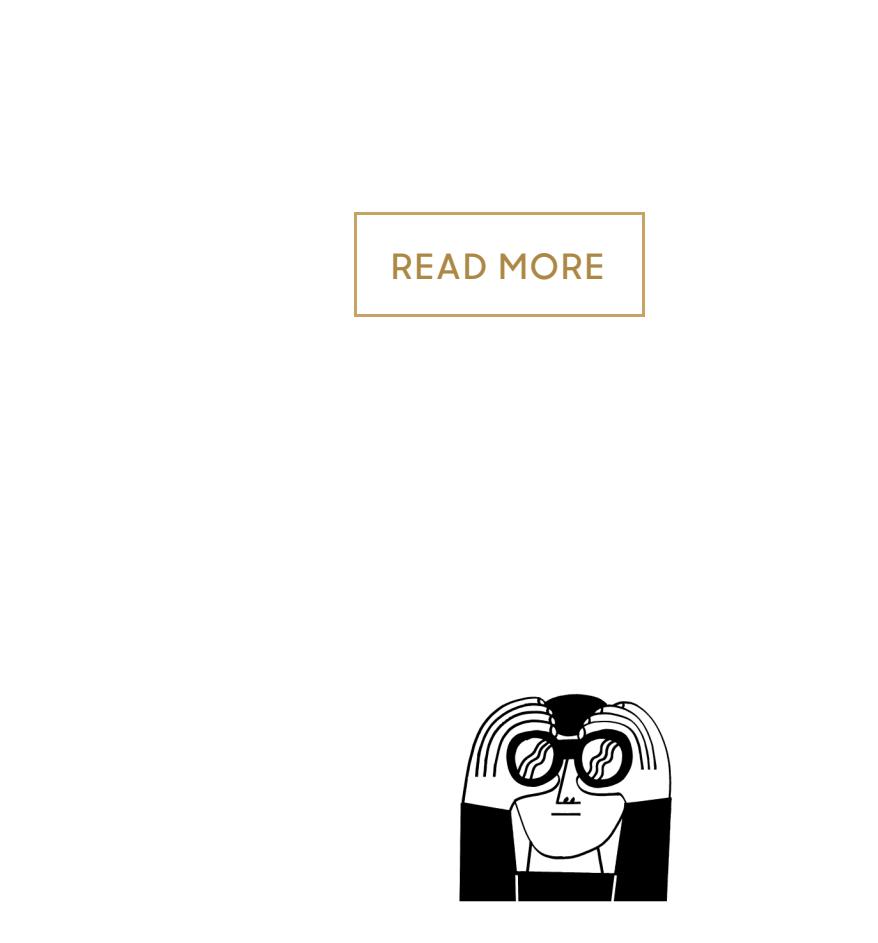

BY ÓLÖF KRISTJÁNSDÓTTIR

POST

How an automation-first strategy delivers better human support

BY RUTH ZIVE

POST

Strategies for leading others through continual change at work

BY SUSAN LAHEY

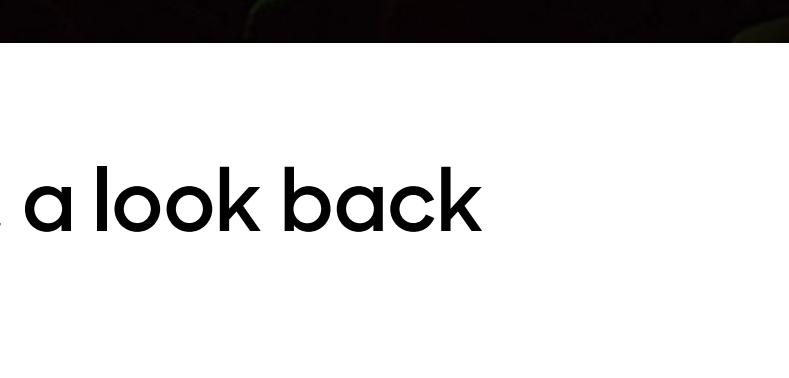

WHAT PEOPLE ARE READING

1 The 10 most-read Relate articles of 2019

2 8 more funny customer service scenes in film and TV

3 CXM best practices for every business

4 Feeding the needs of today's experience-hungry customer

Empathy Lab: Building community in the workplace from the inside out

BY TIFFANY APCZYNSKI

Because newsletters can be fun

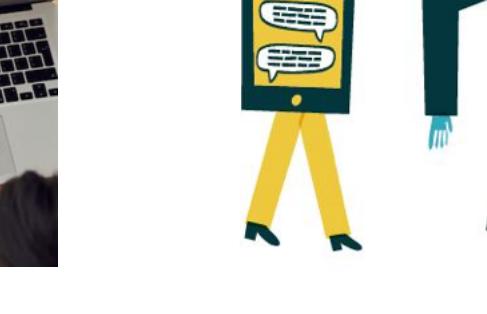

SUBSCRIBE

Attract the best talent for your support team.

Read the white paper

VIDEOS

Meet Zendesk Relate IRL

How to connect with people and customers online

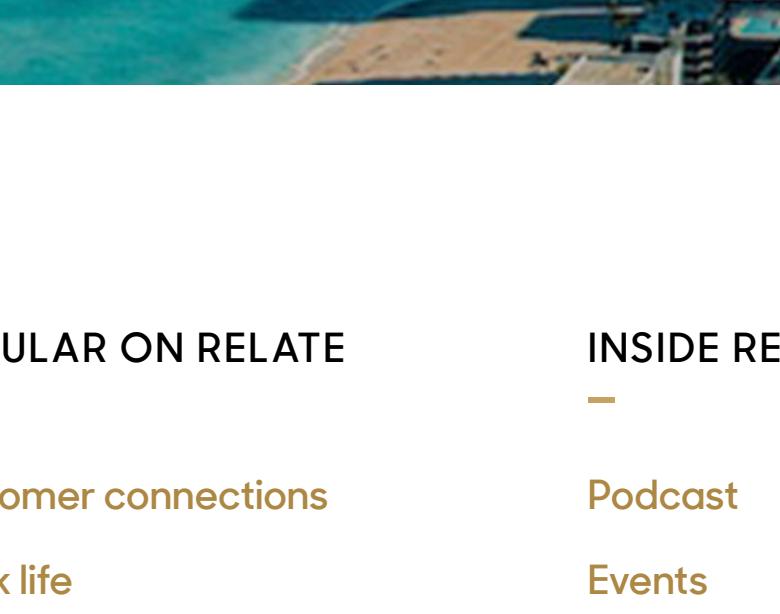

Manage customer satisfaction in a crisis

The new era of customer relationships

Relate 2018, a look back

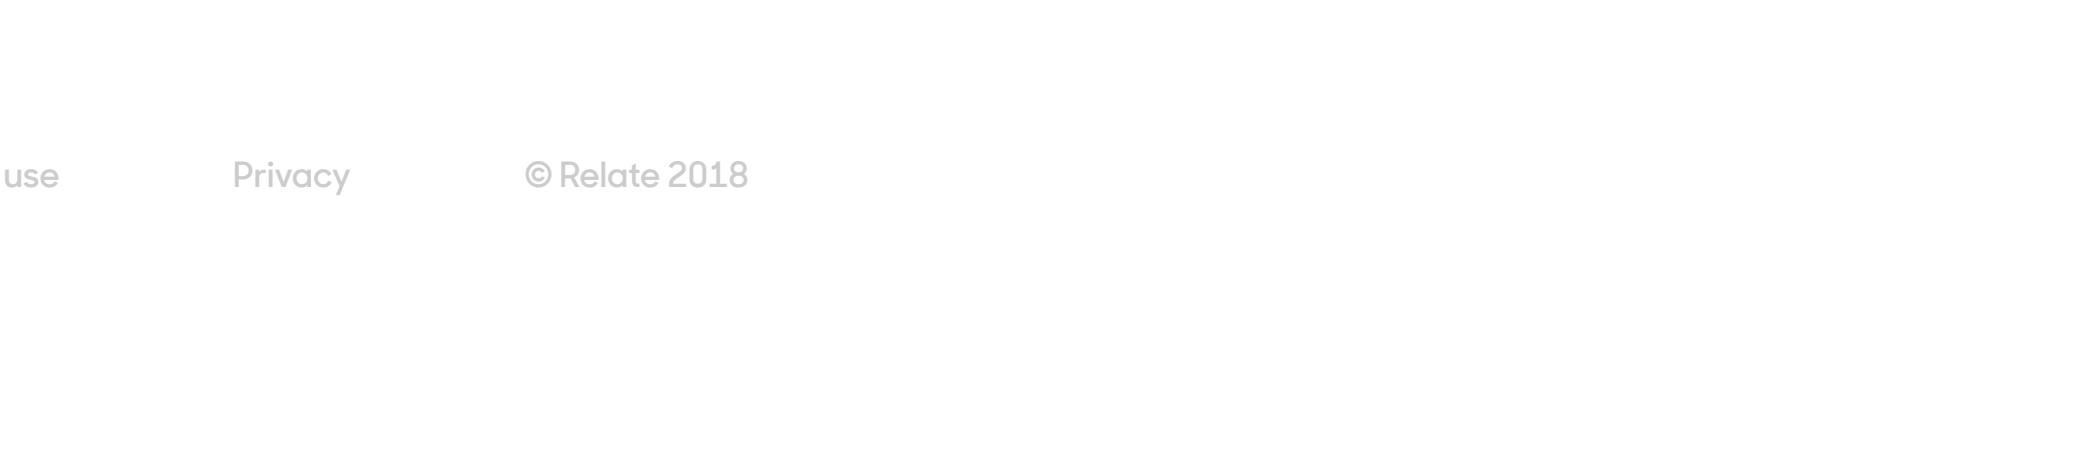

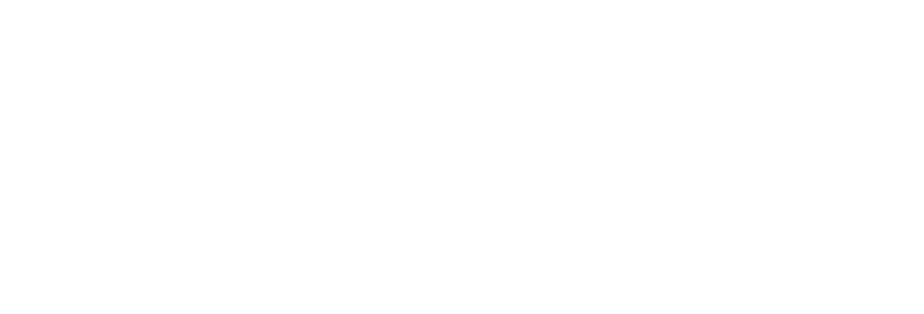

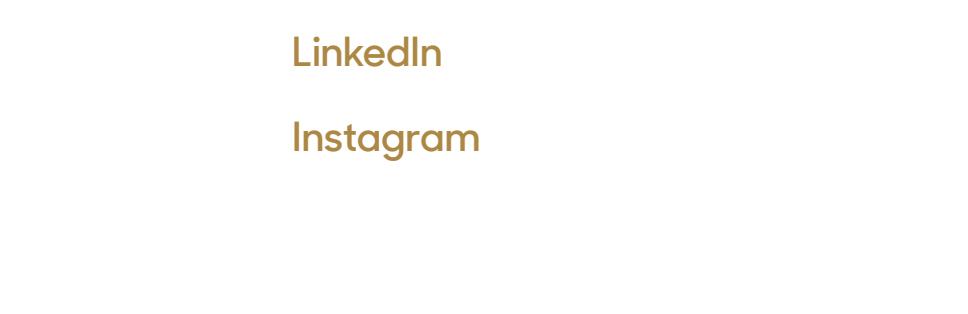

CURATED

Even when a good argument backed by facts and figures indicates a need for change, it's our fear of the unknown that holds us back.

- KARAM HANSEN

3 full days of Zendesk product, CX industry best practices, and unparalleled networking. Retro pools and balmy breezes await.

Learn more